Training tomorrow night, and more

Many apologies for the lateness of this reminder. My computer had a cardiac arrest in the middle of last week and I've only just resuscitated it.

In this newsletter: June training details, changes to certification course, call for volunteers to help repaint the shed floor, maps books on sale

June training

Training is this Tuesday, 9 June (straight after the long weekend), 6.30 at the fireshed. It will be a motor vehicle accident (MVA) exercise. This will be the last Tuesday training until September. There may be weekend familiarisation drives and hazard reduction burns in July and August.

Callouts

Fortunately, another quiet time last month.

Certificate courses

There has been a change in the assessment process for certificate-based training. There is no longer any post-course work – participants pass or fail at the end of the course. The captain will only nominate members for a course once they have sufficient experience.

Shed maintenance

Rick is coordinating improvements and maintenance work on the shed throughout the quieter months. The next job is repainting the shed floor and he would appreciate a couple of volunteers. Contact Rick directly on 0402 790 081.

Map books

Yass Council is selling map books at a reduced price of $20.
